Styles cross-referencing

What styles are in use across all my documents?

Report all documents using a particular style.

Retain only these styles in all documents

This package will introduce the user to the concept of producing cross-reference lists of paragraph styles across vast stores of document data.

Typically we have generated many paragraph styles within our documents, and then no longer use those styles. How to remove unwanted styles from documents (reducing load time and storage space) and how to remove those style definitions from our templates (reducing loading time and storage space) is the question.

The answer lies in knowing what styles are used anywhere in the set of documents.
